"The Old Cathedral"

A Blue Valentine
(For Aline)

Monsignore,
Right Reverend Bishop Valentinus,
Sometime of Interamna, which is called Feni,
Now of the delightful Court of Heaven,
I respectfully salute you,
I genuflect
And I kiss your episcopal ring.

It is not, Monsignore,
The fragrant memory of your holy life,
Nor that of your shining and joyous martyrdom,
Which causes me now to address you.
But since this is your august festival, Monsignore,
It seems appropriate to me to state
According to a venerable and agreeable custom,
That I love a beautiful lady.
Her eyes, Monsignore,
Are so blue that they put lovely little blue reflections
On everything that she looks at,
Such as a wall
Or the moon
Or my heart.
It is like the light coming through blue stained glass,
Yet not quite like it,
For the blueness is not transparent,
Only translucent.
Her soul's light shines through,
But her soul cannot be seen.
It is something elusive, whimsical, tender, wanton, infantile, wise
And noble.
She wears, Monsignore, a blue garment,
Made in the manner of the Japanese.

It is very blue—
I think that her eyes have made it more blue,
Sweetly staining it
As the pressure of her body has graciously given it form.
Loving her, Monsignore,
I love all her attributes;
But I believe
That even if I did not love her
I would love the blueness of her eyes,
And her blue garment, made in the manner of the Japanese.

Monsignore,
I have never before troubled you with a request.
The saints whose ears I chiefly worry with my pleas
are the most exquisite and maternal Brigid,
Gallant Saint Stephen, who puts fire in my blood,
And your brother bishop, my patron,
The generous and jovial Saint Nicholas of Bari.
But, of your courtesy, Monsignore,
Do me this favour:
When you this morning make your way
To the Ivory Throne that bursts into bloom with roses
because of her who sits upon it,
When you come to pay your devoir to Our Lady,
I beg you, say to her:
"Madame, a poor poet, one of your singing servants yet
on earth,
Has asked me to say that at this moment he is especially grateful to you
For wearing a blue gown."

LETTER FROM OUR PASTOR

Planning the Restoration Project

At our most recent Finance Council meeting, I was asked how the planning is being done for the church restoration project. The following is our story, to date, in managing this project.

The Diocese has developed detailed policies to govern restoration projects and raising major capital funds. At our first meeting of the Church Restoration Committee in July, 2021, Msgr. Perkinton (chair of the Diocesan Building Commission—called the DBC) was present and we reviewed these policies. Our group agreed that we would follow these policies and to date we have done so.

We began our restoration project with a request of Bishop Conley for permission to conduct a facility audit. This permission was granted. Clark Enersen conducted the study and presented it to us (the Restoration Committee and the parish) at an open meeting on November 30, 2021. This study has become the “schematics” of the project, a summary of the scope of the work needed and estimated costs to complete it.

I requested permission to raise “start-up” funds for the project in September and permission was granted from the Bishop. To date, we have raised around $200,000, not including a pledge of an additional $20,000.

The Diocesan Building Commission (DBC) serves the Bishop by providing professional review of building plans. We met with them on December 20, 2021 and shared the Clark Enersen facility audit. At that meeting, we noted that the gutters, downspouts and flashing are a major contributor to water infiltration into the building, and we asked permission to take care of them. The DBC recommended that we expand the project to include addressing water infiltration at the foundation on the west side of the building. Clark Enersen developed a project for caring for the downspouts, gutters and flashing, addressing the foundation problems on the west side of the building, renovating the west side confessionals and sound proofing the east confessionals. This was presented to the DBC on January 17, 2022 and given approval by the Commission. Later that day, the parish’s Restoration Committee reviewed the plan and approved it. We will showcase this project to the parish next week and ask for comment. Providing there is general agreement in the parish for this project, we will ask the Bishop for permission to proceed with this plan.

The next step in the process is hiring an architect. Clark Enersen is very knowledgeable of our facilities, having built the rectory in 1956, served as the architect for the 1962 church renovation, managed the 1983 ramp additions, conducted the facility audit of the school in 2018 and the church audit in 2021. On February 7, we received an Agreement for Provision for Limited Professional Services from Clark Enersen. This is an updated schematic of the restoration project, and an offer from Clark Enersen to provide architectural services to the parish for the entire $6 million project. The Restoration Committee and the Finance Council will review this proposal and determine whether we will accept it. Upon acceptance, we will write the Bishop and ask permission to hire Clark Enersen.

There are several additional steps in the review and permission process: permission to conduct a capital campaign feasibility study, review and approval of the detailed design and construction documents, permission to conduct the capital campaign, approval of final design deliverables, and then permission to commence the restoration work. Much work ahead, but it is a great process.

Finally, how does the parish visioning work we are doing fit into this planning? The Visioning Process plays a critical role in the church restoration project. Through our town hall meetings, surveys and focus groups, we will clarify the essential ministries of St. Mary’s and the changes we would like to see in the church building. These will be communicated to the architects over the course of the next 6 months and become part of the restoration plans of the church.

We have been blessed in this process. The Diocese has the model for a project like this. We are faithfully following it. Our Restoration Committee and Finance Council are committed, talented and fully engaged. The visioning process will solidify what we need, the architectural firm is one of the best, and people are supportive of this work. May God continue to bless us and help us bring this work to completion. Mary, Help of Christians, pray for us!

Fr. Walsh

ST. CONRAD OF PIACENZA | FEBRUARY 19

The history of St. Conrad of Piacenza is quite fascinating. A member of one of the most noble families of Piacenza, he was known for his utmost honesty. One day while out hunting with friends, he thought he saw some game in an area of brush and ordered his attendants to set fire to the brush in order to scare it out of hiding. Unfortunately, the dry brush quickly ignited, and fire started to spread. Soon, the surrounding area was engulfed in flames.

Unfortunately, a known arsonist happened to be in the same area as the fire. This man was later imprisoned, tried, and condemned to death for the damage. But on his way to his execution, St. Conrad of Piacenza, full of guilt, stopped the proceedings and confessed to the fire. To make restitution for the damages, Conrad had to sell all his belongings, which reduced him to poverty. Soon after, he decided to retire to a hermitage, where he became a hermit of the Third Order of St. Francis, and his wife entered the Order of Poor Clares.

PRIESTS & MARRIAGE COUNSELING

Question: How can a priest counsel people about marriage when he has never been married?

Answer: If a marriage counselor is in a bad marriage does that mean that he or she will be a bad counselor? If one's counseling ability depended upon first-hand experience, would that require counselors to be perfect before they can help others? Obviously not. Some of the skills necessary to help others do come out of personal life experience. But you don't need personal, first-hand experience in order to understand something. We would not think that a doctor, who is an oncologist, would not be able to treat cancer because he himself has never been sick. We also would not expect every doctor to treat cancer. It is the same with priests.

Essentially marriage is a relationship and we've all been involved in different kinds of relationships: in our family, with our friends, and with God. And so counseling people about marriage is really helping them to look at the issues that really are part of their relationship, finding ways to better understand themselves in relationship to one another and in relationship to God. In many ways a priest's training, background, and experience, as well as his personal knowledge of many different relationships in families and couples, gives him a broad background from which to draw upon. Most priests are quite capable of helping couples prepare for marriage and discussing the issues that are important as they begin their life together. And they do not do it alone. With the help of married couples and specially trained counselors, most parishes offer a very good preparation for the sacrament of marriage.
